THE ELLIOTT GRAYS

Considerable comment and interest has been aroused by the publication in The Times-Dispatch yesterday of a roster of the Elliott Grays, of Chesterfield. Apart from the general interest in the persons of its gallantry in action, a number of persons were confused, being under the impression that the command was the "Elliott Grays," which was composed more exclusively of Manchester United, the Elliott Grays, a composite Company I, of the Sixth Virginia Infantry, which was one of the regiments in Mahone's Brigade, and included both the Elliott Grays, of Chesterfield, and the Elliott Grays, of Manchester United. The roster of the survivors of the Elliott Grays. His wife, who was a Miss Bass, had two brothers who served with him in the same company, both of whom are dead. # AMERICAN MARKSMEN LEAD

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BISLEY, ENGLAND, July 10.—The first and second stages of the Olympic shooting competition ending this afternoon with the American team in the lead. A strong wind over the range today, which is proving something of a puzzle to the marksmen on account of its variability.
The international team competitions are at 200, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, each team of six using the arms of their respective countries. Each team fired ninety rounds, fifteen per man at each of the six distances. Because of the large number of teams competing, the contests will occupy two full days.
In the 200-yards competition the American team scored 428 out of a possible 450. Sweden was second with 424. In the 500 yards competition the Americans won by a score of 1,291, while the British team was second, with 1,283.

SLIGHT GAINS REPORTED IN COMMERCIAL PROGRESS

NEW YORK, July 10.—R. O. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say:
Further small net gains are recorded in commercial progress, favorable reports predominating, although the tendency is by no means definite. In many lines of trade the dulness of midsummer is unusually marked, but each week brings increased manufacturing activity, and instances are noted of orders for fall goods placed too late for delivery of specific dates.
Textile mills are still curtailing output, especially in New England, of gradual improvement is noted in some departments. Demand has so long been confined to urgent needs that there is present evidence of a vigorous movement when consumption discloses the depleted condition of stock in all departments. The export demand for lightweight cottons comes from India and Red Sea points, while staple prints go to Manila and South America.

INVESTIGATION OF RECENT DISASTER IN RUSSIA REVEALS ARCHAIC METHODS.

YUSOV, RUSSIA, July 10.—An investigation into the fatal coal mine explosion of last week has revealed a terrible picture of the archaic methods of mining in vogue in Russia, and the utter absence of inspection. It has been a matter of common knowledge for years past that the Rikovsky mine was dangerous. The workmen named it "The Inferno," because of the prevalence of stifling gas in the workings, and they would only consent to go down at double wages.
The explosion itself was not of great force, and a majority of the 300 men who lost their lives were burned to death or suffocated by after damp. It would have been possible to save all but about a dozen of the men below if prompt measures had been taken, as fully an hour elapsed after the explosion before the flames broke out.
During this hour the rescuing parties waited with folded hands for information as to how and where they were to descend. Immediately after the explosion an engineer recklessly descended the main shaft without a mask. He was overcome by the damp and brought to the surface. He had to be revived after which he drew a rough sketch of the interior of the mine, and it was on that the rescuing parties went ahead. No other plans of the workings were to be had. It was learned also that vital parts of the fire-engines had been stolen, and for the first day water had to be passed into the shaft in buckets.
